COVID-19 Update

It has been an incredibly positive week on the COVID-19 front for the Northern Tablelands, with NO new confirmed cases in the last seven days and six people declared recovered so far. There are still four current coronavirus cases in the region – two in Armidale, one in Inverell and another in Moree, although that person has been in Tamworth Hospital since testing positive. These figures are pleasing because, despite a considerable testing blitz which is underway at Armidale Hospital, there have been no new cases of infection identified.

The convenient drive-through testing clinic which has been operating at Armidale Hospital since Monday has been a huge success in terms of increasing the level of screening locally, with now almost 300 people tested Since Monday. In response to the high level of demand, Hunter New England Health (HNEH) is extending the drive through testing service for another week from Monday, 4 May until Friday, 8 May.

The clinic's operating hours have also been increased to between 9am and 4pm, with the additional three hours of testing giving clinicians the ability to test up to 80 people in a day. Based on the rate of testing I am hopeful around 450 people will have been seen to by the end of the first week.

Appointments for this week are now fully booked but people can still contact the number to secure a test for next week. If you are exhibiting cold or flu-like symptoms such as fever, sore throat, cough or shortness of breath I urge you to call 0427 923 080 and book an appointment to be tested. Due to the high phone traffic I know there has been frustration in the community with people unable to get through to speak to an operator to book an appointment.

I spoke to HNEH about this issue and I am pleased to say a second phone line has also been set up to deal with the huge number of calls coming through.

Personally, I would like to see this drive-through service extended to other areas across our region and I will be making representations to that effect to HNEH.

The increased level of localised testing is having an impact in lifting the overall State figures. Yesterday (Wednesday, 29 April), more than 7,387 people were tested for coronavirus, with only two new cases detected.

This week the Premier indicated a daily average of between 7,000 and 8,000 tests is what is needed for us to manage and monitor the spread of this deadly illness. Obviously, the other big news is from 1 May, COVID-19 travel restrictions are eased in relation to visiting family and friends. Two adults and their dependent children will be able to travel anywhere in the State to visit another household (grandparents, family friends, etc.) however you will still have to follow social distancing measures and maintain good hygiene.

The aim of easing these restrictions is to allow people to provide emotional support to those who may have been socially isolated for an extended period. If you are having to travel a great distance to visit a household, you can stay overnight – but this is not an excuse to go away for a holiday.

The Government will monitor how this change affects the transmission rate and spread of the illness over the coming weeks and will use that information to inform future easing of restrictions.

Until next time, stay safe and stay home.

Adam Marshall, Member for Northern Tablelands

Robert Bell was elected to Uralla Shire Council in September 2016 and has served one term as Deputy Mayor. He was previously Director of Engineering for Uralla Shire, lives in town, and has a grazing block at Kentucky. In his regular column, Cr Bell gives a personal view of some of the more important matters concerning Council and ratepayers in recent weeks.

With the arsenic alert lifted, this is another positive sign that we might return to normal sooner rather than later. A reminder that Level 5 water restrictions will continue until both filters at the water treatment plant are repaired and upgraded with the Granular Activated Carbon. Once these improvements are completed, the plant will be able to treat up to 4.68 ML/day. However, if organic arsenic resurfaces, then the treatment rate needs to be dropped to increase contact time with the activated carbon. This could drop the treated volume back to 1 ML/day. This is likely once the Kentucky Dam level falls again. The reassuring news is that the Water Staff can test regularly at the plant, so they will be aware of any rise in the arsenic level and can take appropriate action. The longer term solutions include trying to locate the source of the arsenic and searching for alternate sources of water, including groundwater, to provide long term water security. The 1 ML/day is close to the usage target for Level 2 water restrictions.

No doubt those with school aged children will look forward to classes returning to normal in the near future. I can only imagine that it may have been a somewhat trying time for both parents and children over the past few weeks! However, we have been extremely fortunate with the glorious weather, and it has been wonderful to hear of families playing, cooking, and generally spending time together. I believe that sales of board games has skyrocketed, and many driveways have been transformed to hopscotch and basketball courts.

The next Council meeting has been deferred until May 5, 2020 to allow a trial of Zoom for the meeting. This will be a very short meeting in comparison to the normal ones. Anyone interested can live stream the meeting from 12:30pm. The Foodwork's Development Application has been deferred to allow everyone to be better informed. This information will include the "Heritage Advisory Memo" dated February 4, 2020 which should soon be available online. I am hoping we will soon return to meeting in the Council Chambers, even if we have to socially distance.

Congratulations to Russ French and the local RSL Sub Branch on providing a very different, but no less poignant ANZAC DAY ceremony at 6am. The showground speakers were clearly audible on my front driveway. I understand Wezz Styles, Uralla Show Society President was responsible for this, in response to a suggestion from Jeannette Parry. Well done all!

Good news with QantasLink and Rex now restarting limited flights to and from Sydney (with Government financial assistance).

With toilet paper back on the supermarket shelves and the curve flattened, let's hope community sport is up and running in June. Having played my first couple of games of golf for nearly twenty years, I am going to request the government close the courses off again. It remains the most frustrating game known to man!! It looks so easy on TV. How good was it to see Steve Dobson from Dobson's Distillery, on the news promoting his hand sanitiser. I am sure this is being well received for those on the Covid-19 front line. No doubt it comes with a "Do not drink" warning! The State Government has announced low cost loans for Council to carry out community infrastructure projects, such as the Industrial Land Development. It will also allow Council to access the "Jobs for NSW" Fund to support the Council Job Retention Allowance, to limit job losses for Councils. Uralla Shire Council has already submitted an application for "Building Better Regions" program. I was disappointed to read the Acting General Manager's claim that the Industrial Land Development needed more consultation. No projects in Government history have had more reports, reviews, designs and redesigns etc, than Uralla's Industrial Land and the Visitors Information Centre upgrade. Sorry, maybe Sydney's second airport!! It was wonderful to see the upgrade works at the Uralla Tennis Courts, with the lighting for Courts 7 & 8 completed. Great work Jason Faulkner. The court construction is being undertaken by a specialist tennis court construction company. The Tennis Club will have excellent facilities when tennis is allowed to resume; unless it is the middle of winter.

Wordsworth Editorial

Uralla, while suffering under the restrictions imposed by the Covid-19 pandemic, just like every other community in Australia, has a potential to see something positive happen for the town: DA-85-2019, the proposed development of the Foodworks site at 100 Bridge Street.

But from the way in which Council has managed the DA approval process until very recently, you could be forgiven for thinking that something untoward was being planned. A letter of notification of the DA was sent on 17 December 2019, with a deadline for responses of 6 January. That letter was sent to the immediate neighbours of 100 Bridge Street, to wit: The Uralla Historical Society, and the owners of the historic Bank of NSW building at 98 Bridge Street. This did not give anyone much time nor opportunity to assess the possible impact of the DA, particularly considering Council offices were closed between Christmas and New Year's Day. At the Uralla Historical Society's request, the submission date was extended to 3 February 2020, and by that date 3 submissions had been received by Council.

Now you would think that, from the scale of the proposal, Council would have wanted to involve the entire community, but that bit was left to the good citizens of Uralla themselves to organise. Not even our representatives, the Councillors, were advised, it appears (see Cr. Bell's article in the previous Uralla Wordsworth, edition 34).

A significant number of people in Uralla, and some people outside our town who hold Uralla dear, took the time and trouble to apprise Council of their concerns once they became aware of the DA. Not one of them objected to the development in principle, but all expressed concern about the possible impact of the proposal in the DA on the beauty and amenity of Uralla.

To give Council full credit, all these submissions, about 35, have now been accepted, and have been passed on to the developer, who has put a pause on the current proposal and agreed to consider the issues raised in the public submissions (see Letters to the Editor). A decision on the development has been deferred until a revised proposal is presented. This has to be a positive for Uralla.

The question remains why Council sometimes treats Uralla's citizens with such disdain? Open communication and provision of information without secrecy is essential for a healthy democracy. This could have been handled so much better right from the start.

ENERGY BILL RELIEF INCREASED: COVID-19 SUPPORT

Local households struggling to pay their energy bills during COVID-19 now have access to additional financial support directly through Service NSW, with a $30 million boost to the State Government's emergency support Energy Accounts Payment Assistance (EAPA) Scheme. For ease of access, you can now apply for EAPA vouchers directly through Service NSW and you will be called for an assessment without having to leave your home.

I encourage people that need bill support during this tough time to head to the Service NSW website - www.service.nsw.gov.au - and register for an energy voucher assessment.

The EAPA assessment threshold has been temporarily increased so people can receive up to $400 per assessment twice per year, compared to the normal amount of $300.

This means the annual maximum limit of vouchers for a household with both electricity and gas has increased from $1,200 to $1,600, up by $400.

During the assessment for EAPA vouchers, government representatives will also contact energy retailers with customers to assist with getting customers onto hardship plans, which will further protect customers during this extraordinarily difficult time.

Business Covid-19 News

Enrolment is open

(web ref <https://www.ato.gov.au/General/JobKeeper-Payment/>) for JobKeeper payments (JKP) via the ATO's Business Portal using myGovID. Enrolment to claim for April JKP is open until 31 May 2020. Businesses however must pay the minimum $3,000 wage (less PAYG Withholding) to all eligible employees relating to two fortnights (or 4 weeks) ending in April by 8 May 2020

(web ref <https://www.ato.gov.au/General/JobKeeper-Payment/In-detail/JobKeeper-key-dates/>)

The ATO has various good JobKeeper guides

(web ref <https://www.ato.gov.au/General/JobKeeper-Payment/JobKeeper-guides/>) on its' website.

Employers should provide eligible employees with a 'Nomination Notice'

(web ref <https://www.ato.gov.au/Forms/JobKeeper-payment---employee-nomination-notice/>) and receive it back prior to enrolling for JKP.

Using Single Touch Payroll (STP) is the simplest way to report JobKeeper-related wages but businesses not yet using STP can report via the ATO's Business Portal. Sole Traders, Partnerships and other 'eligible business participants'

(web ref <https://www.ato.gov.au/General/JobKeeper-Payment/Sole-traders-and-other-entities/>) can also apply for JobKeeper Payment.

A partnership can only apply for one JKP.

Cash Boost payments should start flowing this week to employers who have lodged their March BAS showing wages reported. If you need more information, search online for Covid-19 with the ATO or Treasury, or call your accountant or business advisor. Stay well, stay connected.

Keep well, be kind, and importantly: stay connected with your support network.

Andrew Murray's Diary

“Sunday February 19, 1860:

Camped here in the afternoon. Duke discovered what he thought were bees going into a small pipe near the top of a dead tree. He went up, thinking to get some honey. I may state that there were no native bees on New England and Duke had heard of them but had not seen them. The New England blacks used to go over their bounds into the Namoi and Tamworth districts after native honey and pipe clay. Where the beautiful white pipe clay was got in Hall's Creek is still a mystery. On looking closely at the supposed bees Duke came down again saying that he thought they would sting. He felled the tree. Muldoon, while examining them, had ample proof of their stinging ability, as one stung him near the eye. They were a small variety of hornet with a dark honey-like substance in their nest in a kind of a comb. Suffice to say, one small taste of it would last one a lifetime. I tasted it and suffered very much from its affects during the night. My trusty mate Cameron attended me till I began to get better. A teaspoonful of the substance would, I think, prove fatal.

Monday February 20, 1860:

Started early, taking the Gayndah Rd. Cameron and I had strong views on the liquor question and although but little spirits were indulged in, every “shout”, as it was called, cost 8/-. Neither of us liked it and objected to being, as it were, victimised. We bought a bottle of raspberry syrup at the station store and going ahead when we came to water had a drink. We never pulled up at hotels on the road afterwards, except on one occasion. The country going toward the road to the Boyne River was of a sandy nature, second and third-grade class grazing land quality. Camped at a creek; squatter pigeons were fairly numerous and there were some ducks. I shot a few pigeons and others got some ducks. We came a long stage today, about 25 miles.

Tuesday February 21, 1860:

Got a fair start and travelled over ironbark ridges composed of granite sand with some quartz. The ridges, although high, were not rough; the gullies were deep. On reaching the Boyne River we found a large channel sanded from bank to bank and there was little surface water in it. Passed the station, on the east side of the river, called the Bassandorvan(1) and owned by Sandeman and Galbraith(1). After travelling some distance, we camped on a sandy ridge, characteristic of the whole country we have seen for over 30 miles, a coarse sandy formation. We had our best water dog poisoned at this camp, so have only Mr. McCrossin's old Bluey, a cattle dog, left. I walked a long distance trying to discover what I thought must be scrub turkeys but found the loud cooing noise was the note of the doves which are numerous hereabouts.

Wednesday February 22, 1860:

Started early, crossed over the River Boyne, passed the head station, Bunalong, I think is the name of it. The owners name is Lawson. They were packing carbines to send out to some new country. Character of the country second-class. Camped on a small creek, the name of which is unknown to us.

Thursday February 23, 1860:

The country being poor, we pushed on over medium country, recrossed the Boyne and camped at Strathdees station. Very poor feed; watched the horses. A great many blacks here. They camped in groups at small fires and sat in rows like soldiers.

Friday February 24, 1860:

The character of the country is still poor; in places useless. There is a kind of cemented rock, with white box and iron bark and scrubby heath. Had some rain during the night. Hope to reach Gayndah tomorrow.

Saturday February 25, 1860:

Had a good start. Cameron and I went on ahead, passed over some hard cement-like rocky ridges with a prickly heath-like low scrub for about 17 miles. Came out on a fine black soil plain. Saw a house on the roadside. We were a mile ahead of the party and on calling at the house found they sold milk. What a treat! We drank about a quart each. What a luxury to us, coming as we had originally from where milk was plentiful. The party in sight, so we went on to Gayndah and pulled up at Walker's hotel to await the arrival of our mates. A man was standing in the tap room door, whom I seemed to have seen before. He was much altered but a something about him I must know. I asked him if his name was Bell. He replied that it was and added “You are Andrew Murray.” Saw him last at Stoney Batter about seven years ago. He inquired our errand and on being told insisted on my staying with him. So the others of our party went over the Burnett River, camping on the west bank. I stayed at the hotel that night. We occupied the same room in separate beds but had little sleep all night talking about the old New England folk and what had transpired since he left. I spent a pleasant night as his guest.”

(1) Burrandowan station, in the District of Burnett, Queensland, was owned in partnership by Gordon Sandeman and Alexander Galbraith. (The homestead is located about 40 miles NNW of Kingaroy.)

Noel Marshall, Uralla Historical Society

Footnote: Some racist language is used by Murray, eg. the use of the work 'black' rather than our preferred 'aboriginal' or 'indigenous' (though aborigine was used widely in the first half of the 20th century). There is always a dilemma when using language out of its time: it may insult or hurt others -- the language of decolonization is important but not here where quotes are used or referred to from the past -- this is a verbatim account from the 19th century that is expressed in language acceptable to those for whom it was written.

Uralla Town Water Supply

Water in the Uralla town water supply is safe to drink

Uralla Shire Council, after consultation with the NSW Health and Department of Planning Industry and Environment - Water, advises that the do not drink alert issued on the 18 December 2019 is now lifted.

The "Do Not Drink" alert for the Uralla water supply is lifted as of the 27th April 2020. The elevated levels of arsenic in the town water supply have been reduced to concentrations below the Australian Drinking Water Guideline values.

Council staff have worked closely with officers from NSW Health and the Department of Planning Industry and Environment – Water to lift the alert.

The final decision was made based on consistent treatment plant performance and consistently compliant water quality results within the town's storage and reticulation network over the last two weeks.

Due to recent rainfall and resulting increase in the storage volume of Kentucky Creek Dam levels, the concentration of arsenic in the raw water has also decreased.

The granular activated carbon (GAC) filter media, has successfully been installed in one of the two treatment plant filters. This filter will be commissioned over coming weeks prior to the refurbishment of the pipework and replacement of media with GAC in the remaining filter. The GAC media will assist in achieving an improved treated water quality output while providing a protective treatment barrier for organic forms of arsenic.

Water restrictions will remain at Level 5 until further notice.

The water distribution stations behind Foodworks Uralla and Invergowrie Store will be closed from 6pm on Monday, 27 April 2020.

You can find out further information regarding the lifting of the alert by:

Uralla turns the tap back on with 'do not drink alert' lifted

I welcomed the news this week that the 'Do Not Drink Alert' in place on Uralla's town water supply has been officially lifted, with arsenic levels finally returned to below the required national safe drinking water guidelines. This comes as a huge relief to the community which, for more than four months, has relied on bottled water for drinking and cooking.

Uralla Shire Council staff have worked non-stop to install a granular activated carbon (GAC) filter, funded by a $1.27 million State Government Grant, on one of the two filters at the water treatment plant at the Kentucky Creek Dam.

Pleasingly, that upgrade has yielded the results we all hoped for with NSW Health and the Department of Planning Industry and Environment giving final approval for the alert to be lifted, after number of weeks of consistently compliant water quality results.

While it is great news arsenic levels are now being managed it is important investigations into the original source of the contamination continue, so steps can be taken to stop something like this happening again.

Letters to the Editor

Letters to the Editor can be emailed to: urallawordsworth@gmail.com

Dear Editor,

Thanks to the many community members who showed interest in our article in the Wordsworth on 6 April and provided submissions in relation to the Foodworks supermarket development and to the Uralla Shire Councillors who took interest in this.

The developer has agreed to consider the issues raised in the public submissions, and so the decision on this development has been deferred until a revised proposal is presented.

The spirit of the Uralla community and its passion for its heritage is why we invested in Uralla and why we hold hopes to live there and be an active part of this community in the future.

Thank you once again for your interest.

Dear Editor,

I would like to give a huge thank you to whoever is bringing joy to Uralla with the very tiny houses popping up in the main street and surrounding areas.

We have had fun searching them out and sending photographs to our granddaughter in San Francisco.

Imagine my delight when, a few mornings ago, I discovered elves or fairies have moved into our oak tree! Brought memories of the 'Magic faraway Tree'

Thank you!

Wendy van Ekert, Uralla resident

Uralla Brewery Book Club Review

This time of Covid-19 and self isolation offers a wonderful opportunity for readers. Although we are in self isolation the Brewery Bookclub must go on, so we had our first online meeting over the Zoom platform last Thursday. The book discussed was "Girl, Woman, Other" by Bernadine Evaristo Anglo-Nigerian writer joint winner with Margaret Atwood of the Man Booker Prize for 2019. We enter the lives of 12 very different characters sketching feisty portraits of the mainly black British women. The characters tackle difficult subjects from historical slavery to sexuality, feminism and gender fluidity. Despite the separate individuals' stories there is an interconnection between the characters. And the overarching poignant theme of fitting into a invariably racist society especially in the 1960's. The story begins with Amma the lesbian socialist playwright with 'peroxide dreadlocks trained to stick up like candles on a birthday cake' hours before the debut of a play at the National Theatre in London and it ends 450 pages later as the audience spills out into the lobby. During this time the lives of 12 characters, mainly women who have come into Amma's orbit are narrated in an everyday normality of struggle and joy. There is Yazz her daughter and her own journey of self discovery describing her mother as having the 'mad old woman look'. Pleading with her to shop in Marks and Spencers like normal mothers. One of my favourite characters is the indomitable 92 year old Hattie who has run a farm inherited by her parents when they moved out of London in the 1960's which was in itself difficult as there were no black people in the country at that time. Hattie kept the family farm going well into her 80's and only the past 10 years has been reclaimed by nature. Images of her galloping her Icelandic pony with no helmet or boots through the forest. Hattie remembers taking her body for granted back then when her body did what she wanted automatically. A different story at 92. I could easily reread this book to discover more nuances to these very relatable characters. Our next bookclub meeting will be held on Thursday 21st May at 5.00pm.

The book to be discussed is "The Discomfort of Evening" by Marieke Lucas Rijneveld. This book is easily found on Kindle.

If you would like to Zoom in to our next bookclub please email: lisafaulkner2016@gmail.com.

Tuck in Takeaway

Facebook : Tuck in Takeaway, Phone : 6778 4368. Delivery is $2, 5 nights a week, Wednesday to Sunday. Please adhere to usual social distancing in the shop.

Foodworks

Foodworks hours are the same. We do home deliveries like we have in the past, customers can ring on 67784502 or email uralla@matadorgroup.com.au.

We prefer if they pay over the phone or we can still take cash. If they can ring before 12noon with their orders, it gives us time to get it ready to deliver. We do charge a delivery fee of $8 for phone or email delivered to your house. We charge $5 if you want us to get an order together for someone else to pick up (as of Monday 6th April). We just ask that for any customers who are self isolating, that they pay over the phone as it makes it easier to just drop the groceries at the door and have no contact. We are taking the health of everyone involved seriously and Sean has gloves and sanitizer with him at all times and we do deliver in plastic bags only.

We have been told a limit of 200 customers in the store at one time which we are well under at this stage. We ask that people please keep their social distance of 1.5 while in the store and to not engage in conversations while doing their shopping we need them in and out as quickly as possible.
